THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF WAR ON UKRAINE

Russia launches war's largest drone attack

REUTERS
Kyiv, February 23

UKRAINE’S PRESIDENT VOLODYMYR Zelenskyy said on Sunday that Russia launched more than 200 drones in an overnight attack, the largest of the war, as he condemned Russia’s “aerial terror” and called for unity among Ukraine’s allies.

“Every day, our people stand against aerial terror,” he wrote on X.

“On the eve of the third anniversary of the full-scale war, Russia launched 267 attack drones against Ukraine — the largest attack since Iranian drones began striking Ukrainian cities and villages.”

Ukraine’s air force said in a statement that 138 of the drones were downed and another 119 disappeared from radars after being jammed by electronic warfare, adding that Russia also launched three ballistic missiles. Damage was reported in five regions of Ukraine.

Moscow has launched near-nightly massed drone attacks at Ukraine for months, seeking to exhaust air defences.Zelenskyy said that in total, nearly 1,150 attack drones,

‘Govt staff must detail workweek’

February 23

ELON MUSK DEEPENED the confusion and alarm of workers across the federal government Saturday by ordering them to summarise their accomplishments for the week, warning that a failure to do so would be taken as a resignation.

Shortly after Musk’s demand, which he posted on X, civil servants across the government received an email from the Office of Personnel Management with the subject line, “What did you do last week?”

The missive simultaneously hit inboxes across multiple agencies, rattling workers who had been rocked by layoffs in recent weeks and were unsure about whether to respond to Musk’s demand. Officials at some agencies, including the FBI and the State Department, told their employees to pause responses to the email.

Elon Musk’s mounting pressure on the federal work force came at the encouragement of Trump

Musk’s mounting pressure on the federal work force came at the encouragement of President Trump, who has been trumpeting how the billionaire has upended the bureaucracy and on Saturday urged him to be even “more aggressive.”

In his post on X, Musk said employees who failed to answer the message would lose their jobs. However, that threat was not stated in the email itself. “Please reply to this email with approx. 5 bullets of what you accomplished this week and cc your manager,” said the Office of Personnel Management message that went out to federal employees on Saturday afternoon. The email told employees to respond by midnight on Monday and not to include classified information.

The email was received by workers across the government, including at the FBI, the State Department, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Office of Personnel Management, the Food and Drug Administration, the Veterans Affairs Department, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services among others, according to copies seen by NYT.

Some agency leaders welcomed Musk’s move. “DOGE and Elon are doing great work! Historic. We are happy to participate,” Ed Martin, the interim US attorney for Washington D.C., whom Trump has nominated to run the office on a permanent basis, wrote in a message to his staff. —NYT

In his post on X, Musk said employees who failed to answer the message would lose their jobs. However, that threat was not stated in the email itself. “Please reply to this email with approx. 5 bullets of what you accomplished this week and cc your manager,” said the Office of Personnel Management message that went out to federal employees on Saturday afternoon. The email told employees to respond by midnight on Monday and not to include classified information.

The email was received by workers across the government, including at the FBI, the State Department, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Office of Personnel Management, the Food and Drug Administration, the Veterans Affairs Department, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services among others, according to copies seen by NYT.

Some agency leaders welcomed Musk’s move. “DOGE and Elon are doing great work! Historic. We are happy to participate,” Ed Martin, the interim US attorney for Washington D.C., whom Trump has nominated to run the office on a permanent basis, wrote in a message to his staff. —NYT

Russia launches war's largest drone attack

REUTERS
Kyiv, February 23

UKRAINE’S PRESIDENT VOLODYMYR Zelenskyy said on Sunday that Russia launched more than 200 drones in an overnight attack, the largest of the war, as he condemned Russia’s “aerial terror” and called for unity among Ukraine’s allies.

“Every day, our people stand against aerial terror,” he wrote on X.

“On the eve of the third anniversary of the full-scale war, Russia launched 267 attack drones against Ukraine — the largest attack since Iranian drones began striking Ukrainian cities and villages.”

Ukraine’s air force said in a statement that 138 of the drones were downed and another 119 disappeared from radars after being jammed by electronic warfare, adding that Russia also launched three ballistic missiles. Damage was reported in five regions of Ukraine.

Moscow has launched near-nightly massed drone attacks at Ukraine for months, seeking to exhaust air defences.Zelenskyy said that in total, nearly 1,150 attack drones,

ELON MUSK DEEPENED the confusion and alarm of workers across the federal government Saturday by ordering them to summarise their accomplishments for the week, warning that a failure to do so would be taken as a resignation.

Shortly after Musk’s demand, which he posted on X, civil servants across the government received an email from the Office of Personnel Management with the subject line, “What did you do last week?”

The missive simultaneously hit inboxes across multiple agencies, rattling workers who had been rocked by layoffs in recent weeks and were unsure about whether to respond to Musk’s demand. Officials at some agencies, including the FBI and the State Department, told their employees to pause responses to the email.

Elon Musk’s mounting pressure on the federal work force came at the encouragement of Trump

Musk’s mounting pressure on the federal work force came at the encouragement of President Trump, who has been trumpeting how the billionaire has upended the bureaucracy and on Saturday urged him to be even “more aggressive.”

In his post on X, Musk said employees who failed to answer the message would lose their jobs. However, that threat was not stated in the email itself. “Please reply to this email with approx. 5 bullets of what you accomplished this week and cc your manager,” said the Office of Personnel Management message that went out to federal employees on Saturday afternoon. The email told employees to respond by midnight on Monday and not to include classified information.

Some agency leaders welcomed Musk’s move. “DOGE and Elon are doing great work! Historic. We are happy to participate,” Ed Martin, the interim US attorney for Washington D.C., whom Trump has nominated to run the office on a permanent basis, wrote in a message to his staff.
